Survey: Identifying knowledge tools and services safely manage nanotechnology

Civil society

This short survey contains a set of questions about the following:

- The organisation you work for and its activities with respect to the safety of nanotechnology.
- The main issues of concern for you in relation to the safety of nanotechnology.
- The most essential services for your organization regarding the safety of nanotechnology.
- The services that you have directly commissioned or that you got other actors to commission on nanosafety issues.
- Whether you would like as an individual, or organisation, to become involved and support the work of the EC4SafeNano centre.

Before you complete the survey you may wish to consult your work colleagues who are also involved with the safety of nanotechnology to address some of the questions in this survey.
