Survey: Identifying knowledge tools and services safely manage nanotechnology EC and Agencies

This short survey contains a set of questions about the following:

- The organisation you work for and your role in this organisation with respect to the safety of nanotechnology.
- Which areas of regulation and enforcement your organisation is responsible for?
- Whether this includes concerns for specific various aspects of the safety of nanotechnology?
- Whether your organisation undertakes activities about the safety of nanotechnology and whether you commission help and support from other organisations to do this?
- If you commission support from other organisations for which types of services in relation the safety of nanotechnology?
- Whether you would like as an individual, or organisation, to become involved and support the work of the EC SafeNano centre?

Before you complete the survey you may wish to consult your work colleagues who are also involved with the safety of nanotechnology to address some of the questions in this survey.
